Period for Initiating Anti-Dumping Investigations

1796. SHRI G. Y. KRISHNAN : Will the Minister of COMMERCE be pleased to state :

(a) whether India has cut short the period for initiating anti-dumping investigations and pronouncement of the final order ;

(b) if so, the details thereof ;

(c) whether it is a fact that in most anti-dumping cases, Indian industry is either not well-versed with the rules and regulations or submit incomplete information ;

(d) if so, how Government propose to overcome this ;

(e) whether Government have, at any stage, considered the repercussions of anti-dumping measures on the domestic producers as well as importers ; and

(f) if so, the outcome thereof ?

THE MINISTER OF COMMERCE (SHRI PRANAB MUKHERJEE): (a) and (b) According to Article 5 of the GATT Code on anti-dumping. Anti-Dumping investigations shall, except in special circumstances be concluded within one year after their initiation. The customs Tariff. (Identification, Assessment and Collection of Duty or Additional Duty on dumped articles and for determination of injury) Rules 1985, provide that normally, the final finding shall be made within one year from the date of initiation of an investigation. However, internally a time limit of 6 weeks has been laid down for initiation of investigation from the date of filing of an application complete in all respects. The preliminary and final findings are expected to be published within 4 and 9 months from the date of initiation. Thus, the total period of 9 months for completion of an investigation compares favourably with a time lilmit of 12 months laid down under GATT regulations.

(c) and (d) A perusal of petitions received from the domestic industry alleging dumping shows that the petitions are not complete. In order to overcome this deficiency the Government have prescribed a simplified proforma containing essential details that are required to be filled in anti-dumping petitions. This proforma has been circulated to Apex bodies like CII, ASSOCHAM, FIEO etc. and interactions are held to clarify any doubts.

(e) and (f) Yes, Sir. The procedure required to be followed before levy of anti-dumping duty provides for holding of public hearings to enable the exporters, the importers, the domestic producers and other interested parties to present their case. The preliminary and the final findings are made only after taking into account the arguments and the view points put forth by all these interested parties.
